"I've been going a long time now
along the way I've learned some things."

"You have to make the good times yourself Take the little times and make them into big times."

"and save the times
that are all right
for the ones that aren't so good."

"You won't believe this
But I'm going off to war.
I know that it's hard to understand
To think of me knee-deep in mud
When I so love the sand."

"There are golden apples to be picked and green hills to climb and meadows to run when you're young."

"there are roaring rivers
to be crossed
and bridges to build and wild oats to sow
as you grow."

"Sometimes I think people were meant to be strangers.

Not to get to know
one another,
Not to get close enough
to damage the heart
Made older by each
new encounter.
But then someone comes along and changes all that for awhile anyway."

"Those of us who walk in light
must help the ones
in darkness up.

For that is what life
is all about and love
is all there is to life.

. . . .

it only takes an outstretched hand."

"We come into the world
alone
We go away the same
We're meant to spend
the Interlude in closeness
Or so we tell ourselves
But it's a long way from the morning to the evening

AN EDITORIAL—Glenda Anderson

Club Life

Were the club life at Armstrong cinematized perhaps a fitting title for the production would be The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly. Such a title would encompass the varying attitudes of students toward the on-campus organizations, attitudes which range from extreme dislike to extreme fondness toward and which include scores of lukewarm feelings. There are probably exceptions to this opinion, but a composite statement about Armstrong's clubs, true at least for some of the organizations some of the time, is that they exist in a carefree and almost disorganized state.

Regardless of their state of being, however, clubs contribute much that is good to the college. Along with the Greeks they nurture a sparky intramural program and lend their support to campus drives, and social events that need the active participation of every student. Clubs related to professional fields offer seminars on the sidelights and highlights of their members' future careers. Through service clubs that have parent affiliates Armstrong students cooperate with civic-minded adults in community projects and by such cooperation take steps toward dissipating the disreputable image of college students which many adults have because of their evening news reports. Armstrong's fledgling actors and musicians, through several annual performances, gain experience in the arts while producing quality entertainment, and interest organizations introduce people with similar hobbies and maybe produce playing partners for leisure time fun.

The picture, however, is not all rosy. There is bad along with the good. Some clubs who list service as one of their mottos find it easier to tell prospective members the names of their officers than the particulars of their most recent service project. Some clubs are stigmatized social cliques. Several clubs are plagued by spasmodic attendance at meetings, poor planning by officers, and indifference of members toward long-range goals.

An ugly error made by many students is attributing these and other problems entirely to that six-letter catch-all, apathy, when there are probably other causes also. Armstrong being basically a commuter school gives birth to many problems. People living within the city or in surrounding counties find it inconvenient to return to the campus after their normal school day or on weekends for club meetings, and many of them while on campus use class breaks for lab or library work. Many students, because they are employed or manage homes, don't find time for all the activities they would like to enjoy on campus since they may already belong to organizations affiliated with civic, religious, business, or leisure interests in their communities.

The twelve groups pictured in this section are overcoming problems and functioning, keeping students involved in doing something toward the betterment of Armstrong and providing them with some of those activities and friendships that comprise the great and enjoyable college life. Though they have problems, these clubs project an image of activity to the community and to present and prospective students.

The Pirate basketball team finished the 1969-70 season with a 12-18 record despite playing against three schools that were ranked in the top twenty in the nation by the Associated Press. Four losses by a total of five points kept ASC from recording its first winning season.

The Pirates opened the year against the tall Augusta College Jaguars in the Augusta Invitational Tournament and lost in the final seconds of the game, 72-71. Augusta finished the year by winning the NAIA District 26 championship and representing the district in the national tournament. They were ranked 14th in the Associated Press poll of small colleges.

The following night, ASC lost again, this time by two points in overtime, 78-76, to Georgia Southwestern. The Pirates then returned home to beat Florida Tech, 87-80. Before the Christmas break, however, the Pirates dropped three more contests, including conference games to Valdosta State and LaGrange.

The Bucs opened the new year with two new faces in the lineup against Stetson University. Stetson was ranked 12th in the nation at one point in the season, and completed the year by competing in the NCAA national playoffs. The Hatters dealt the Bucs their worst defeat of the season, 114-80. The Pirates second win was a record-setting performance against Florida Southern. ASC held Southern to only 50 points and won easily, 66-50. The 50 points represented a new team record for defense.

After bowing to Georgia Southern, the Pirates were 2-8 on the year. From that point on, the Pirates played 500 ball, recorded a four-game winning streak and won six of seven during the latter part of January. The only loss during the period came at the hands of Shorter, 63-57, at ASC's homecoming.

The next highlight of the season found the Pirates going against Savannah State and suffering a 89-66 defeat, evening the record between the two Savannah Colleges at two wins each.

In the final week of the season, ASC participated in the first annual Kiwanis "Basket Bowl" and lost to Piedmont College, 95-87. The Pirates ended the season on a winning note, however, defeating Lander College, 89-84.

Danny Stell closed out his college basketball career with a 25 point effort against Lander College in the Pirate's final game of the 1969-70 season. The junior college transfer set 19 individual offensive records and one defensive mark while wearing the Pirate colors, was twice selected to the All-Conference team and was the conference's MVP in his senior season.

He is the only player ever to score 1,000 points in four-year competition and he did it with two 500 plus seasons, 588 and 504. He averaged 19.4 points per game during his two years at ASC and made 49.0 percent of his field goals and 81.0 percent of his free throws.

He was co-captain during both of his seasons and became the first basketball player to be named to the All-Conference team twice. He was selected to the first team during his junior year and was a unanimous choice for the team in his senior year. The balloting for the team was done by the players in the conference and Danny received all 81 votes. He was named MVP because he received more votes than any other player.

Junior David Rich established himself as one of the finest free throw shooters in the nation in 1969-70 by putting together a school and conference record 45 consecutive conversions. The total was three short of the national NAIA record.

Throughout the season, despite a low percentage at the first of the year, Rich finished third in the nation with a 91.0 percent completion average. Rich toed the line a total of 144 times and missed only 13 shots.

Rich's performance at the free throw line earned him the Ashley Dearing award and led the team to a third place finish among the NAIA's 545 member institutions. Rich's feat is even more remarkable when you consider his percentage was third out of approximately 6,000 college basketball players in the NAIA.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Intramural sports at Armstrong have been numerous and enthusiastic this year and the interest and participation have been very outstanding in all activities. The Student Intramural Council has sponsored flag football leagues for men and women, a badminton tournament, basketball leagues, a bowling tournament, gymnastic club and a swimming club through the Winter Quarter.

In the Spring Quarter, competition was held in the Armstrong "500" bicycle race for women, tennis, golf, softball, swimming, volleyball, track, and table tennis.

Total participation in the program exceeds 700 students.

Armstrong's baseball Pirates opened the season on March 20, against one of the top teams in the nation, Pembroke State. With 35 games on the schedule, 25 at home, the Pirates were building a team around a strong pitching staff and a "hopefully" good fielding team.

The pitchers were more abundant than during any season in the past, and their potential as a group appeared to be greater than any previous staff. Led by sophomores Dennis Pruitt and Tommy Swinford, All-Conference two years ago, the staff included newcomers Hank King, Bob Derfus and Frank York.

With seniors Lee Rabon, David Smith, Jeff Aycock and Albert Lodge the leading contenders for starting positions, the Pirates were hoping to combine their experience with the natural abilities of numerous freshmen to improve on the team's 12-17 record of 1969.

Rabon was moved from shortstop to catcher by Coach Bob Backus during the pre-season workouts and was expected to have a good year at the new position. Smith returned for his third season in right field and Lodge was being counted on for his third campaign in the outfield or at third base. Aycock and Hardy were completing their second campaigns. Aycock was figured to be used alternately at second base and behind the plate.

At the beginning of the season, hitting — or the lack of it — was considered the team's greatest weakness.

The 1970 season saw the first use of the new dugouts, bleachers and fence on the Pirates' diamond.

The Inter-Sorority Council functioned as an integral part of the sorority system this year. Through its efforts, rush parties, invitations, and bids were coordinated. Now that all of our campus sororities are affiliated with national organizations, the Inter-Sorority Council will soon become part of the National Panhellenic Council.

Armstrong has had the foresight to add to its staff of educators a counselor. Miss Lynn Benson. Miss Benson graduated from the University of Georgia with a BA in psychology and a masters in education (MEd) in counseling. She worked as a psychometrist and later as a counselor at Macon Junior College where she also taught Introductory Psychology.

The new counseling service emphasizes educational, vocational and personal counseling. It is a program designed to help the student on an individual and confidential basis. The counselor provides a sympathetic ear for the student faced with a personal dilemma. She can also aid the student who has chosen a career in finding a position that will offer both personal satisfaction and a chance for ad...

Why on earth would they use paper to help launch a moon shot?

The paper is used in this 327-foot Apollo service tower. As honeycomb panel cores. Laminated to aluminum "skins".

The panels form the enclosing wall of the 120-foot-wide tower base. And the huge hinged gates which open and envelop the rocket during servicing.

Why paper honeycomb? Because it's incredibly strong. And incredibly light. The giant gates swing easy. And precious pounds are saved in the 32-story structure whose weight can flatten the railroad wheels below when they are not in motion.

Union Camp honeycomb has hundreds of other uses—in both commercial and residential construction. Everything from floors to walls and to roofs. Even the sky isn't the limit.

The paper for Union Camp's Honeycomb is manufactured at the huge Savannah Complex, the world's largest pulp-to-container plant.

As the Editor of the Geechee for 1970, I have learned that every effort takes cooperation, mutual understanding, and a lot of hard work. As the year has progressed, much of this effort has been done by only a handful of staff members, but these have put much energy and time into it. We all have become aware of what goes into putting out a yearbook which speaks for our college and its students.

Thank you to the entire staff, especially the section editors — and Bob and Ron, who came in when we needed you so badly. And Bill, who went out and sold all the ads himself, thank you for your time.

We hope that in this yearbook you can find some of your life in Armstrong.

A special thanks to the faithful four who stayed up with me the last night before deadlines. Thank you all.

Francine Wimbish
Editor
